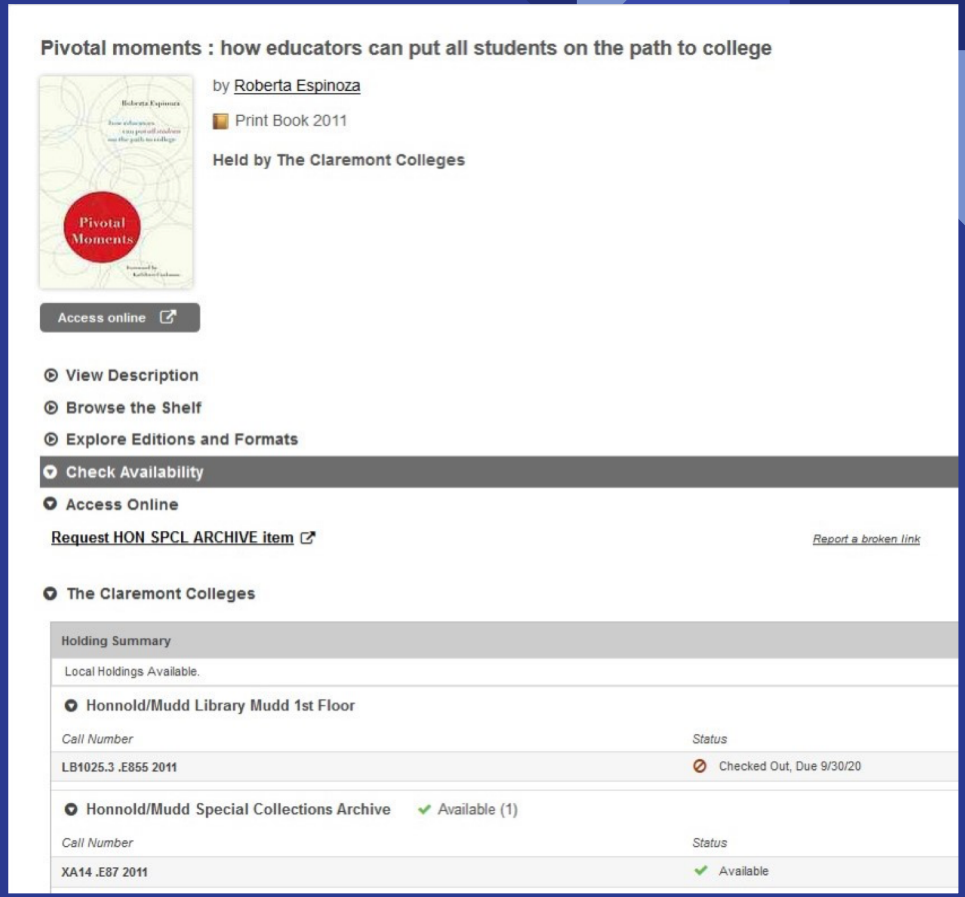
The idea for making Aeon/ILLiad a two-way street

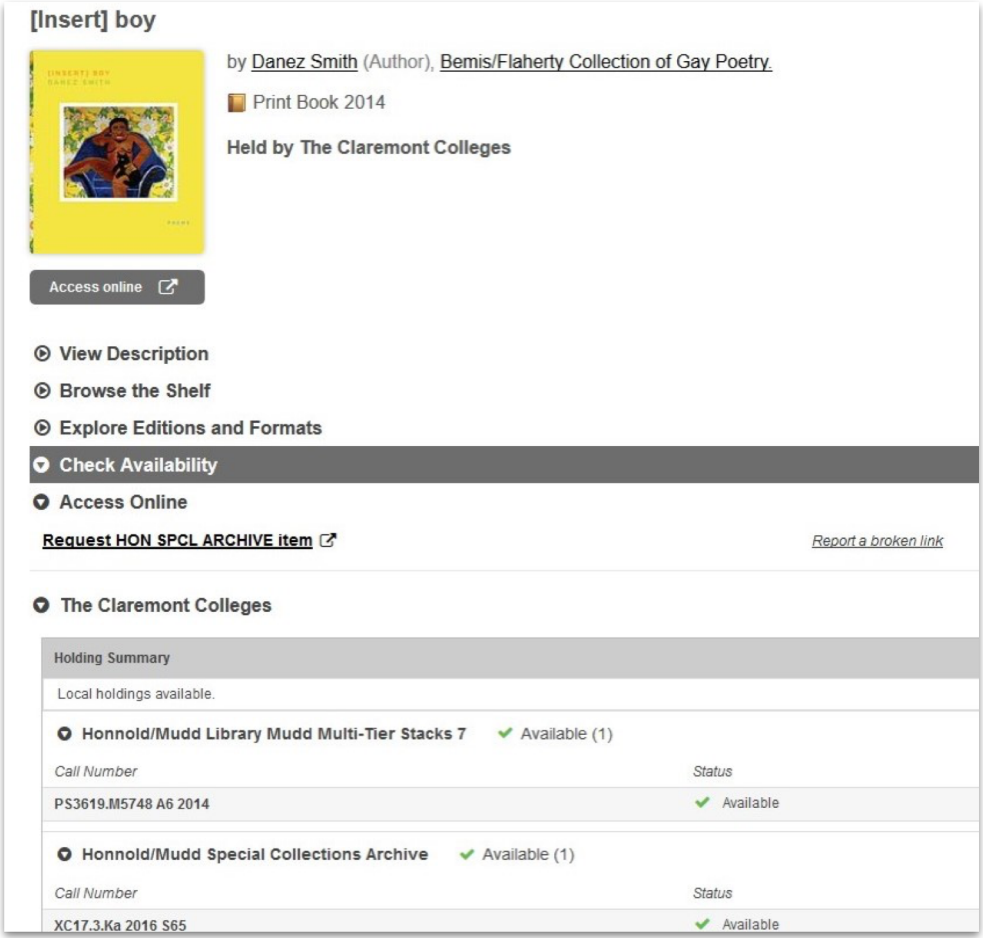
New library access services in response to COVID19

- Resource Sharing for access to e-books, print books for delivery and pick-up, and resource sharing

What if the integration could work the other way around?

Goal: Provide course readings for remote instruction through a standard workflow



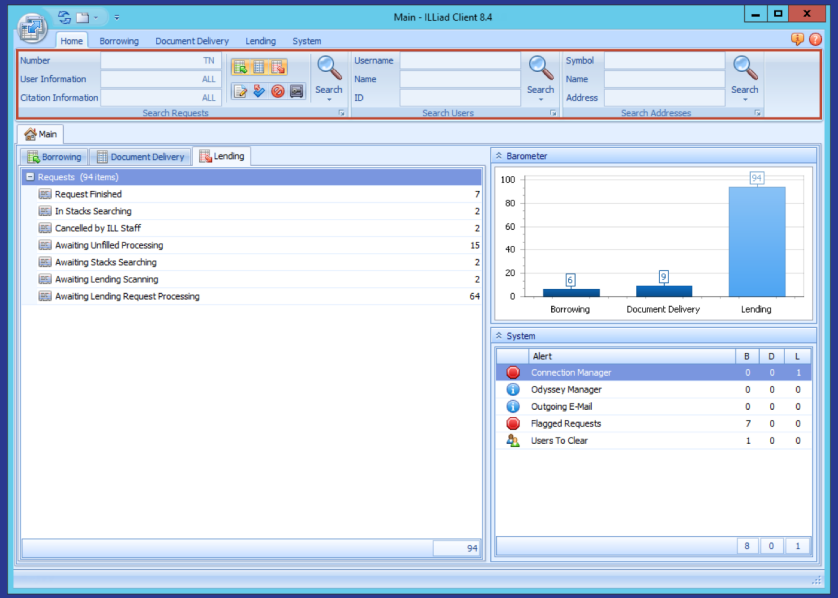


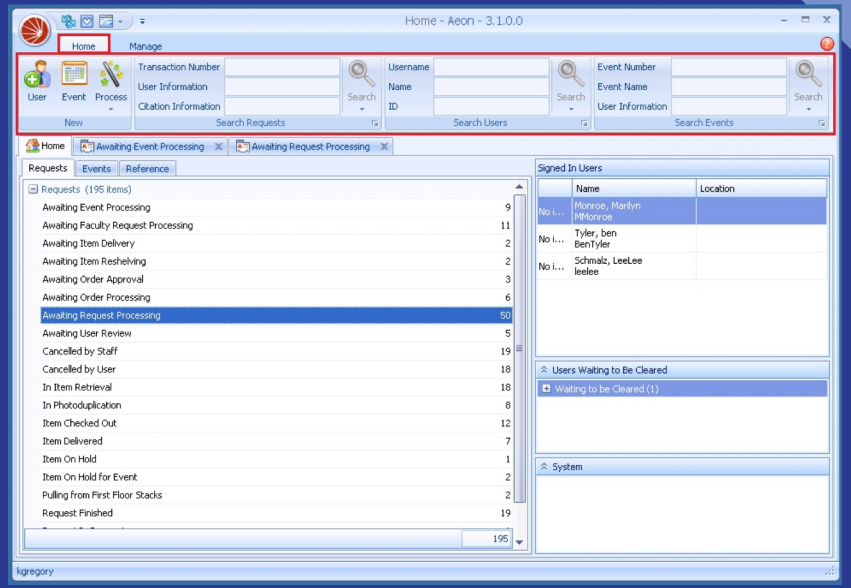
Goal: Provide users access to books electronically, through print delivery, or print pickup.

This looks familiar

Past requests originated with Special Collections, through Aeon, and were completed with Resource Sharing, through ILLiad.

- Requests from remote researchers at institutions with ILLiad





- Automatic user account creation
- Option to logon as user to ILLiad
